INTERNATIONAL BIBLICAL APOLOGETICS ASSOCIATION

Today the church needs, as never before, a more profound comprehension of God's Word. In April 2020, responding to God's call to stand for the truth of the Gospel, several pastors and biblical scholars from various evangelical and Messianic Jewish communities convened, expressing their concerns regarding the infiltration of false teachings into the local congregations. The resultant loss of sound doctrine undermines the unity among believers and their relationship with God.

ABOUT US

After much prayer and deliberation, this team of pastors and theologians created a unifying theological statement to help pastors and lay believers reach out to spiritually deceived individuals and families more effectively. This statement is known as the International Apologetics Declaration, and it can be freely accessed here: bibleapologist.org/declarations-en

Envisioning the doctrinal gap among believers, God led our team to address this issue by creating the International Apologetics Declaration as the first project of the International Biblical Apologetics Association, Inc. (IBAA).

This ministry is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization in the United States. IBAA is a non-denominational outreach ministry that promotes unity among believers without comprising sound doctrine. It strives to spark revival among the Jewish people, identifies and refutes contra-biblical teachings, reaches out to cultists, and trains leaders in evangelism and apologetics. This new apologetics ministry founded by Dr. Igal German and his colleague Michael Karpovetzki seeks to provide pastors and lay believers with tools that address theological and practical challenges in their localities. As Jewish believers in Yeshua (Jesus), Igal and Michael are passionate about evangelism, discipleship, and apologetics.

Another Bible conference was held in Stuttgart with Dr. Roger Libi as the keynote speaker. One of the theological topics covered at that conference was the biblical covenants and the nation of Israel.
